

HOME HAPPENINGS.

—Autumn is officially here and it won't be long now until there's talk of Christmas gifts.

—Squirrel hunters have been numerous the past week but game has been found scarce.

—M. B. Childer, who resides northwest of the village, fell one day last week and fractured a rib.

—Work has been resumed in Canfield township schools and Superintendent Guy reports them all moving along nicely.

—An effort will be made to have Council take action looking to the removal of several unsightly wooden awnings about town.

—Last Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Manchester very pleasantly entertained a company of friends at their home on West Main street.

—Premiums awarded at the recent county fair will be paid at the Dispatch office Saturday, Sept. 30, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

—There are numerous trees about town whose limbs overhang sidewalks and during a rain it is impossible to pass under them with an umbrella. Let the official tree trimmer get busy.

—Early closing of village stores Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday each week begins next Tuesday. Better mark the time carefully and save disappointment by trying to shop after 5:30.

—More than three inches of water fell between 8 o'clock last week Thursday night and Friday morning. It was the heaviest rainfall of the year and in some localities considerable damage was done.

—This week brought another increase in attendance at the North-Eastern Ohio Normal College. President Guy confidently expects the number of students to reach 125 with in the course of a few weeks.

—While Martin Kimerle was leading a horse about for exercise one day recently the animal playfully kicked and struck Mr. Kimerle's right leg, injuring the member so that he was forced to remain indoors a few days.

—Jacob Hartman, a Civil War veteran who resides on Depot street, was stricken with paralysis early Monday morning and his condition is regarded as serious. His right side is affected and he is unable to move without assistance.

—A considerable territory south of Canfield is a most productive garden spot and at this season of the year hundreds of loads of farm products are hauled through here and marketed in Youngstown. And what is true of farm products is equally true of berries and other small fruits.

—Miss Estella Dyball of Canfield is superintendent of the Berlin township schools and principal of the high school at Berlin Center. Her assistants are Misses Mary McConnell and Myrtle Johnston. Teachers in the district schools are Robert Hillos, Cola Smith, Carrie Boyer and Ernest Miller.

—The membership of the Christian church will hold a meeting next Monday evening at which reports from all departments of the church will be submitted. Every member of the church is earnestly solicited to be present. Light refreshments will be served and a good social time is expected.

—Alice Miller, niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moyer, celebrated her 11th birthday last week Thursday and in the evening 17 schoolmates called on her and had a most enjoyable time. Those present were Wallace Swager, Donald Dickson, Robert Manchester, Fowers Dickson, Robert Baird, Rosebud Baird, Grace Baird, Daisy Syager, Minnie Myers, Emma Hake, Rachel Cushing, Dorothy Heckel, Thelma Heckel, Doris Dickson.

—W. Jarvis Smith of Pittsburg, who has been granted a natural gas franchise in the village, is here this week actively engaged in getting the work of laying mains started. Under the terms of his franchise he has until Dec. 1st to lay pipes in the business quarter of the town but as he is anxious to have gas installed in his greenhouses before severe winter comes will put forth every effort to have the job completed within a month. As many men as can be used to advantage will be employed in pipe laying.

—With favorable weather brick laying on the Broad street pavement will be completed today. Brewster Graves, a Youngstown colored man, is laying the brick and is lightning at the job. He drops four rows, 400 brick, across the street in a minute and 27 seconds. Probably a dozen men hustle brick to him, but at that time he is in action hardly half the time. As soon as the brick laying is completed the street will be rolled and flushed with cement. In about ten days the thoroughfare will be thrown open for traffic.

—Henry Hess of Salem, who has long been employed by the Buckeye Engine Co., was in Canfield Tuesday looking for a location for a machine shop. Mr. Hess recently sold his property in Salem, and desiring to engage in business on his own account looks with favor on his old home in Canfield. If he finds a suitable location he will not only establish a machine shop but within a few months erect a foundry where small castings can be made. He holds patents on a number of fast selling iron and steel articles and he believes in Canfield would be an ideal place in which to engage in the line of manufacturing he contemplates.

—There is a rumor in Youngstown that the Park & Falls electric line is to be extended to Canfield. As the story runs, considerable land in Boardman township, just across the line from Canfield, has been secured by the railroad company and that Mill Creek bottom is to be flooded for this there will be an extensive pleasure park, far and away ahead of anything in this section of the country. Following the story further, the railroad is to be extended from Fosterville across Lanterman's Falls in a southwesterly course on private right of way to the Boardman-Canfield road and thence to the village of Canfield. That sounds mighty good, almost too good to be true, but let us hope the story as above recited has foundation of fact.

—Besides undergoing extensive repairs the Methodist parsonage on Broad street is being painted.

—The foundation has been laid for the extension of the concrete sidewalk on the north side of Court street.

—Mr. Cleland of Poland and his men are decorating the walls and ceilings of the Farmers' National bank building.

—The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church will meet with Mrs. Mary A. Osborn, three miles northeast of Canfield, next week Thursday afternoon. A large attendance is desired.

—Rev. J. C. Schaaf will preach in Zion Reformed church, north of town, at the usual hour next Sunday morning and in the Austintown church at the usual hour in the evening.

—While Henry Kohler, Jr., was assisting Wednesday in raising the frame of a bank barn on his father's farm, 2 1/4 miles south of Canfield, a derelict fell and struck him on the right side, badly bruising him and fracturing several ribs.

—R. L. Kyle, Edward Grubb, John Burt, W. H. Fishel and J. H. C. Lyon have incorporated the Kyle Lake Pleasure company of Youngstown, with a capitalization of $2,000. The company will build an artificial lake on the Kyle farm near Canfield and stock same with fish for pleasure purposes.

Miss Mary Kirk Called Home.

Miss Mary E. Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kirk, died at the family home on Spring street in Youngstown Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock after an illness of more than a year, aged 37. Deceased was born in Canfield and here she was educated and grew to womanhood. Eight years ago she removed to Youngstown with her parents. When her health began to fail last fall she submitted to surgical treatment, and while everything medical science could do to save her life was done her condition slowly became more critical until Tuesday morning when she sank to eternal rest. Through all her long illness she was uncomplaining, the sweet disposition which characterized her entire life always manifesting itself. Many friends in Youngstown and Canfield deeply mourn her untimely death. She was a devoted member of Trinity M. E. Church and while in health one of the most active members of the New Era Club. Besides her parents she leaves one brother, Fred W. Kirk, of Chicago. Funeral services held from the family home Thursday afternoon were conducted by Rev. John L. Hillman of Trinity church. There was a large attendance of sorrowing relatives and friends. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was made in Belmont cemetery.

Death of Homer Peters.

Homer Peters died at his home in this place about midnight Sunday after an illness of five weeks with typhoid fever. He had sufficiently recovered from the first attack of the disease to be able to be about the house and his appetite was returning when he suffered a relapse, resulting in death. Deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peters and was born in Canfield township July 27, 1875. His early life was spent on the home farm on Lynn street. He was a quiet, unassuming man, kind and genial, one who made friends and retained them. It can be truthfully said of Homer Peters that he was all the time a thorough gentleman. He was married June 12, 1901, to Miss Veronica Brinkley of Austintown township and soon after their marriage the couple located in the village where he had since resided. For several years he was engaged in teaming on his own account but in recent years had been employed by the Canfield Lumber Co. He was a member of Zion Reformed church. Surviving him are his wife, aged mother, two brothers, Allen and Clarence, and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Rhodes. Funeral services held from the family home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock were conducted by Rev. J. C. Schaaf and largely attended. Interment was made in Zion cemetery, north of the village.

Plenty of business at cider mills these days.

SAFETY IN LOCATING WELLS.

No well should be located where polluting matter has access to it. Such matter usually comes from cesspools or privies, slops thrown on the surface, backings from hen yards, pigpens and barnyards, from manured fields, animals falling into the water, and filth thrown in through the open top or washing in through the plank coverings or leaky casings. The matter entering through the top can be kept out by cement, iron, or other impervious curbing. The entrance of materials at the bottom of shallow wells can be prevented only by locating them beyond the reach of contamination. Where any of the polluting agents are present care should be taken to see that the well is located at least 100 feet away and on distinctly higher ground, so that both the surface drainage and the underground drainage—which generally moves in the same direction—will be away from it. On flat lands the wells should be at least 150 feet from any source of pollution. The importance of choosing a location safe from polluting influences is almost universally underestimated. Laying aside considerations of comfort and health, a safe well is nearly always, in the long run, the cheapest. Safety should invariably be made the first consideration instead of the last.

Farmers Must Spray.

Any farmer who has more than ten fruit trees will have to spray them after this year or be subject to a fine of from $25 to $100. It also affects city people for there are quite a few small orchards in the smaller cities. Here is the law, which was passed by the Ohio legislature, May 31, 1911:

Section 1. One year from the passage of this act each owner or manager of an orchard consisting of ten or more fruit trees shall spray or cause to be sprayed said trees one or more times during the period from November 1 to April 30, with suitable preparation for the destruction of the San Jose oyster shell or scurfy scale.

Section 2. Whoever knowingly permits a violation of this act shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each year such spraying is not performed.

Fall O' the Year.

Silver and mauve of sea-holly, fox-gloves all purple and sp. we cheer bells blue as sun in the twilight, daisies like stars in a row; Phlox where the wind loves to linger with a soft little sound like rain—There are my garden's glory at the fall of the year again.

Rosemary's green and grey tangles, basil and balm and rue, Thyme in soft cushions of purple, lavender's mists of blue, Mignonette's russet and amber, lad's love and majorana, with some Thyme make the sweet o' my garden at the fall o' the year again.

Hollyhocks splendid in satin, peach-hued and pink and pearl, Fuchsias like cardinals for fairies, a-swinging to the wind's soft whirl, Anemones curv'd like pale sea shells that cherish the waves' refrain—'Tis then I roam ne'er remembering the fall o' the year again.

An Old Virginia Law.

Virginia has an old law, dating back to the days of Patrick Henry, which prohibits rights-of-way being procured by condemnation proceedings through an orchard for a public road. Why an orchard was particularly designated for favoritism is not quite clear in these advanced days.

Relief From Earache.

Make a small teaspoonful of glycerine quite warm by holding in a spoon over a candle, pour gently into the ear, lay a pad of heated cotton-wool all over the ear and fasten on with a flannel bandage. This requires care; mind the glycerine must be warm, not hot.
